Drivers Ed became more important in '69 with our new instructor, Mr. Rose, and a "win you over" Plymouth: shown here—Polly Mullins, Bev Hopkins, Mr. Rose and last year's car.

Other ubiquitous scenes in '69, Kathy Wright as Indian Mascot; "happen-ing" at overly-crowded lockers; cafeteria cut-ups.

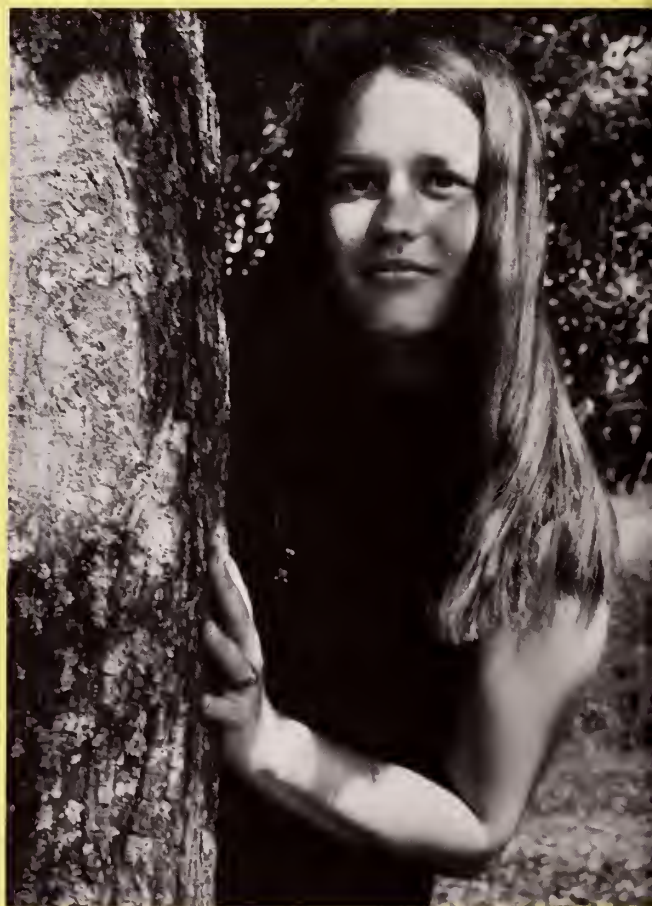

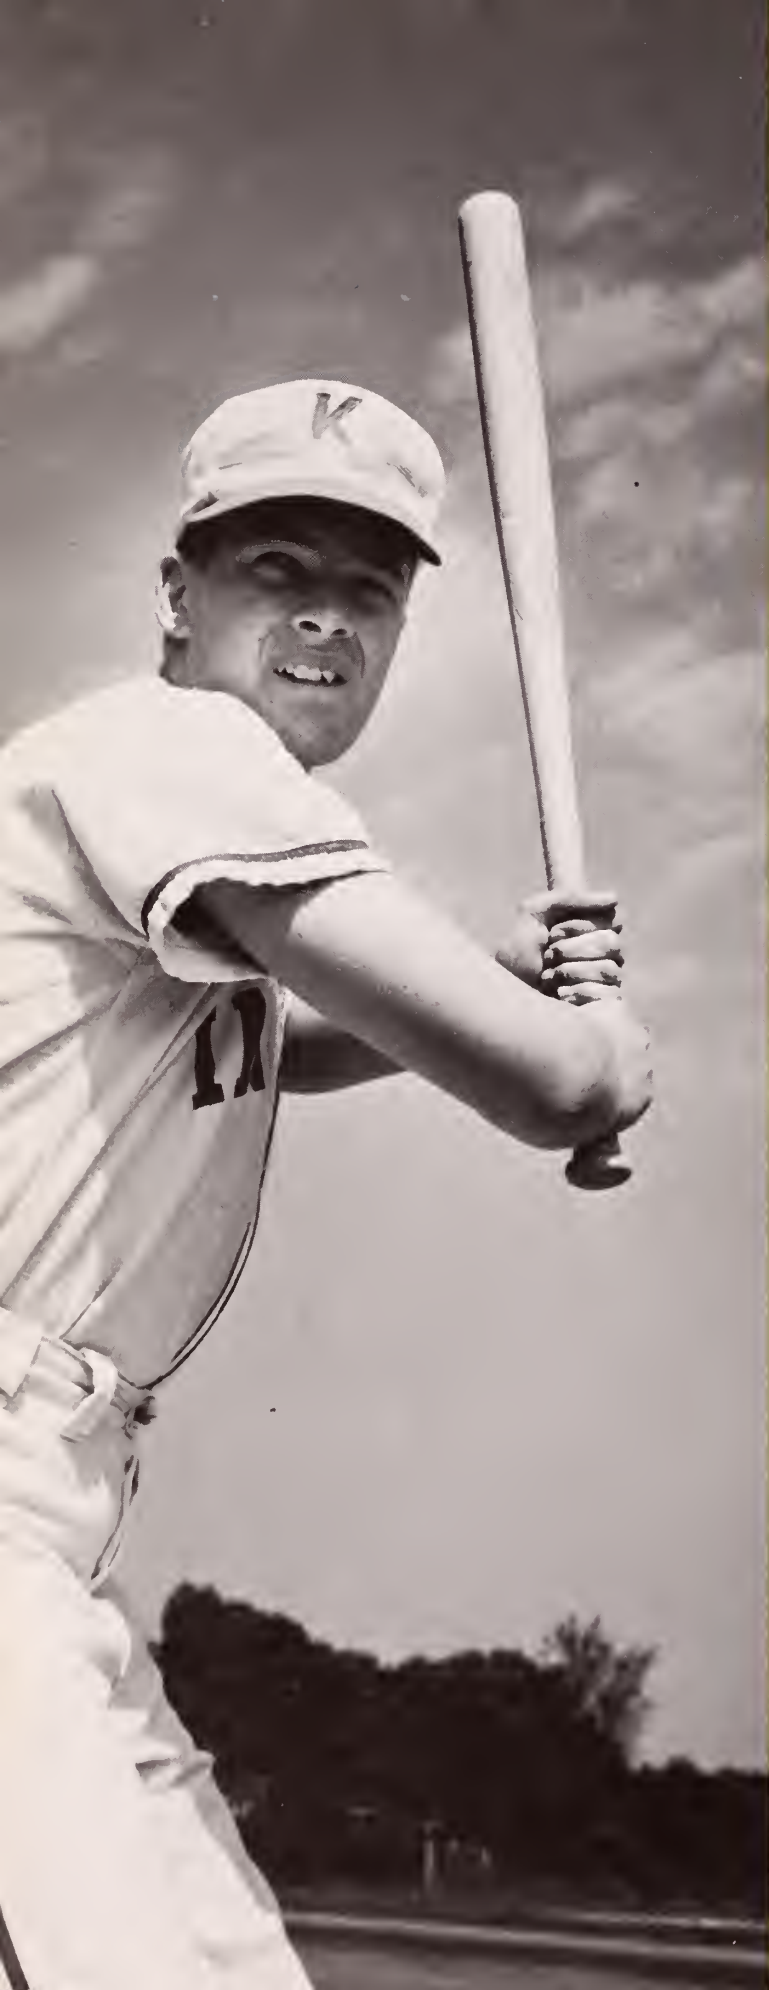

Music Plays Important Role In School Life

Band rehearsals after school . . . Fun and dancing at school-sponsored parties . . . Music to encourage school spirit at pep rallies . . . the sounds and looks of the times,—guitars, Nehru jackets, “tell it like it is.”

Randy Sturgill at spring baseball practice.

Below: on field trip nature study are Mike Collins, Gordon Scotty Scott, and Legina Colyer. Peeping around tree is Audrey Hopkins.

Relaxation

Daylight saving time gave us long afternoons with time for get-togethers with friends, sports cars, and cokes and cheeseburgers at the drive-ins.

Dining—lunch in the cafeteria, food preparation unit in home ec. class, cokes and burgers at the Coffee Cup, annual senior dinner at The INN.

Fashions, Sixty-Nine

Fashions for '69 are shown at F.H.A. sponsored fashion show and in student parking lot. Charlotte McNeece shows long dress for formal party, Sharon Linkous wears short party dress, and Janie Stephens models the popular "bloomer dress." Also popular with students in '69 were very short skirts, turtlenecks, Nehru jackets, leather clothing, block heel shoes, and KELLY HIGH RED for everyone on Friday!

S.C.A., The Executive Council

The Student Cooperative Association is the student government representation of the school. Membership of the club is made up of the executive council and homeroom presidents with Mr. Charles Bennett as sponsor. This season, the S.C.A. has operated the concession stand, taken charge of the lunchroom, sponsored sock hops, the football party and homecoming. The S.C.A. sponsors the Inter-club Council and is a major donor to the new student lounge. This past summer the S.C.A. sent Debbie Adkins and Melinda Wilson to Girl's State in Radford, and Kenny Sanders and Lee Boggs to Boy's State in Williamsburg. Mark Kiser, president, attended a workshop in Radford.

SPORTS

The Indians, with two new coaches, Coach Rose and Coach Walton, finished the sixty-eight season with an eight-two record. The club started the season with four consecutive wins, winning over Castlewood, Pound, Coeburn, and Powell Valley. They lost to Gate City and Appalachia and then had four other wins. Making First Team All-Conference were players Dennis Carter, Bobby Pippin, and Greg Belcher. Belcher also won All-Southwest Virginia, was voted Outstanding Defensive Player and Most Valuable Player. Dennis Carter was voted Outstanding Offensive Player in the district.

Action From The Coeburn And Powell Valley Games

Varsity Cheerleaders

Members of the Cheerleading squad, sporting their new Indian uniforms, brought all-new cheers to the Kelly fans. Pep rallies were made more interesting by using skits and original songs.

Autumn days were filled with making hall posters to encourage both the players and the students. "Stomp Gate City" was seen on over fifty posters before the game with the Blue Devils.

Each girl was remunerated with a gold football charm from the coaches and players.

Basketball — Sixty-Eight And Nine

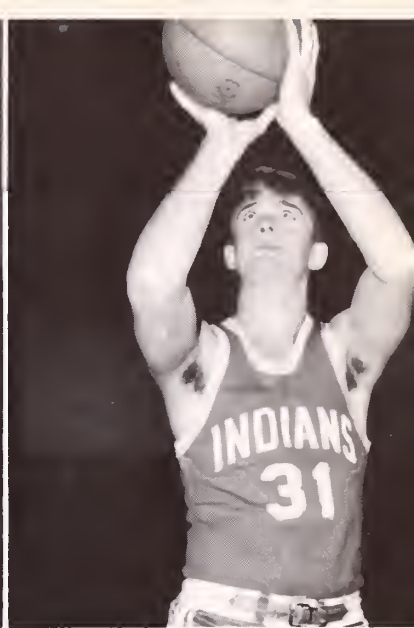

The 68-69 basketball team returns only two lettermen, Dennis Carter and Lee Boggs. Non-lettermen Billy Hylton and Greg Belcher also return. Several promising boys have been promoted from the Junior Varsity; among these are Thomas Stanley, Richard Mullins, Bobby Pippin, Richard Gilliam and Randy Hatfield. The team is handicapped by lack of experience and height; but with the improvement of the younger players, the future looks brighter.

Sophomores Elect Presidents In Seven Homerooms

This year there are 173 sophomores dispersed into seven sections. Their sponsors are Rebecca Carter, Frank Carter, William Gembach, Elizabeth Hamilton, Gayle Kilgore, Janet Lester, and James Watts. Sophomores are entering the commercial world with typing, economics, and bookkeeping. Others are taking their first or second year of foreign language, in addition to English and biology. The sophomores are represented in the S.C.A. by officers selected from each class, and a few lucky members are elected to club offices. By the end of this year of school, the sophomores have made up their minds about the subjects they wish to take in order to prepare themselves for college or for work. Several members from this class are already attending the technical school for classes in electronics, nursing, masonry, etc.

Freshmen Choose Homeroom Presidents As Representatives In The S.C.A.

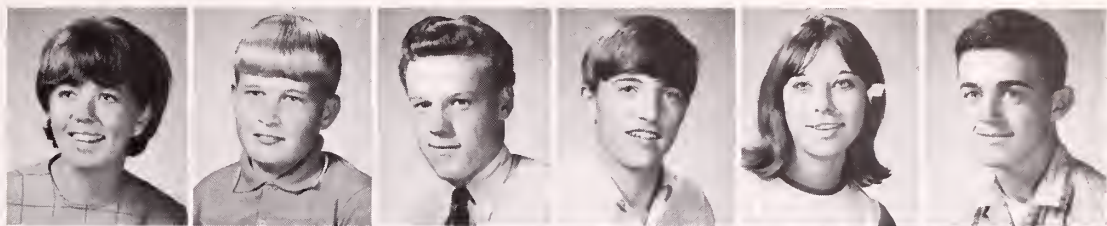

Jimmy Mullins, Tommy McAmis, Linda Hunsucker, Sandra Adair, Robbie Stallard. Photographed on the Birchfield Road.

The hundred and sixty-five freshmen students are divided into six homeroom sections sponsored by Miss Ruth Carter, Mr. Thomas Countiss, Mr. James Dotson, Mrs. Mildred Hughes, Mrs. Mary Smith, and Mr. A. E. Stanley. By the time the students begin the freshmen year, they have already found an "at home" feeling at Kelly; they know many of the teachers and are familiar with classroom locations. In planning schedules with the guidance staff, ninth graders choose from electives such as geography, Algebra I, general business, and language; they must take English, science, and physical education. In the field of sports, freshmen go out for J.V. football and basketball; and a few are members of the track and baseball teams.

Eighth Graders Select Officers To Represent The Largest Class At Kelly

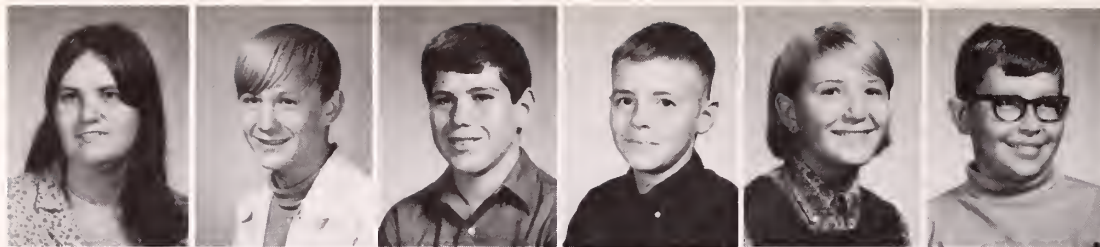

Kathy Adams, Kathy Hubbard, Judy Asbury, Kate Hibbitts, George Necessary, Steve Bowman.

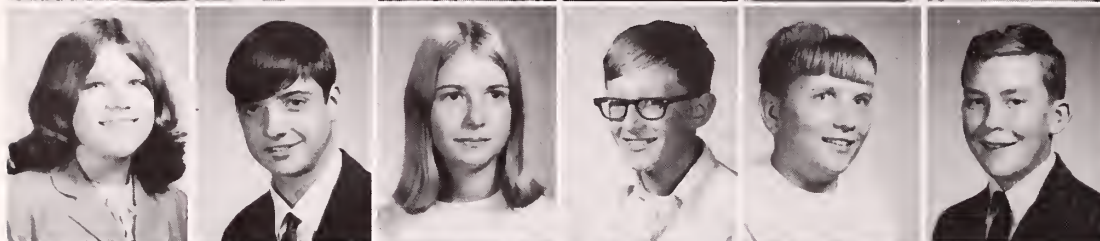

The 1969 eighth graders make up a total of 207 students. Each one making his or her contribution on their way to becoming the Seniors of '73. The new eighth graders were greeted with such experiences as jammed lockers, new rules, and most of all, more responsibility. In view of these things, we the Senior Class of 1969 feel that the eighth graders have done a fine job of making their adjustment and making this a better year for Kelly High.

The eighth grade class sponsors are Mrs. Catherine David, Miss Sandra Whitt, Mr. Dale Rose, Mr. Larry Stanley, Mr. James Stewart, Mrs. Betty Wells, and Mr. Fred Walton.
